VegArt a Pioneer in sustainability

Devotion, a change in lifestyle and being environmentally friendly was what inspired us to create our VegArt brand name. The development of our vegan products are offered in Hungary and internationally.

Innovation and quality are part of the fundamental foundation of the VegArt brand and our goal is that our vegan lifestyle can be made available to everyone.

We feel that it is our duty to contribute to a sustainable future and we hope that our customers will join us on this journey.

Why is vegan nutrition important from a sustainability point of view?

- Reduces strain on the environmental: A vegan diet contributes to the protection of the environment, as it requires less land and resources for breeding livestock.
- The extremely high consumption of water and energy from livestock farming also contributes to climate change as well as the emission of greenhouse gases.

- The preservation of biodiversity: A vegan diet helps preserve the diversity of the ecosystem, which ensures that different life forms and ecosystems are preserved on earth.
- Animal welfare: A vegan lifestyle means reducing the suffering of animal, as it does not involve the exploitation and butchering of animals.
- An increasing number of people are suffer more and more from intolerance to different foods and /or food allergies. The vegan diet provides an excellent alternative for those who are sensitive to dairy, eggs or other allergen products.
- A vegan diet is an affordable and delicious alternative that allows you to eat healthy and environmentally friendly.

We are pleased that an elite athlete like Viktor Jakab (vegan strongman) is also a committed supporter of VegArt products.

For Viktor Jakab both environmental protection and his own health are extremely important. He is a living example of how a person can be strong and full of energy even with a plant-based diet.

As a strong vegan, Viktor is not only a supporter of a sustainable lifestyle, but also inspires others to eat consciously.

It proves that a vegan lifestyle is not only good for animals and our planet, but also for our individual health.

The fact that Viktor is a supporter and an advocate of VegArt products is proof enough that we are contributing to a sustainable and healthier future.

Choose our VegArt products and become part of building a more sustainable future while enjoying high-quality vegan food and products!
